

Chad R. Story, M.Ed.

Biography

Chad was born and raised in the coalfields of Southern West Virginia. He graduated from Man High School and attended Southern West Virginia Community and Technical College where he served as student body president. He later transferred to West Virginia State University to earn his bachelor's degree in history. After finishing his undergraduate degree, Chad worked as a clinical supervisor for adults and children with developmental disabilities and then a special education teacher. Chad later obtained his master's degree in education from American Public University. Politically, he was elected to the West Virginia State Republican Committee (4 years) and the Logan County Republican Executive Committee (8 years). Over the past 10 years, Chad has been a part of many successful campaigns, including beating a 38-year incumbent Congressman—which led to Chad's hiring as a congressional staffer. He was a district staffer for former Congressman Evan Jenkins (WV-03) before accepting his current position as District Director for Congressman Alex Mooney (WV-02) and has recently taken on the role Deputy Chief of Staff, as well. Civic minded, Chad is a free mason and vice president of the Man Lions Club. Personally, he enjoys spending time with his girlfriend Keri, their dog Chip, and spoiling his young nieces and nephews. Chad enjoys country music concerts, checking-out local dive bars and traveling. He lives in Charleston, WV, but spends part of the year in Washington, D.C.
